

Mr. Michael Richards

Technical Officer

CIRM

- Mike Richards has been Technical Officer for CIRM since March 2022, and in that role, represents CIRM members in matters relating to bridge navigation systems and maritime communications at IMO, ITU, IEC, ETSI and MED meetings.
- Originally trained by the British Navy, Michael is an electronics engineer and Electro-Technical Officer (ETO) with significant onboard and shore-side professional experience, having worked for a number of yacht management and shipping companies over the last 12 years. This means he has first-hand experience of a diverse range of ship types including super yachts, tankers, and warships.
